NOTICES/PRESS RELEASES

1.1 COLOR YOUR WORLD, INC.

Section 91(3) of the Ontario Securities Act provides that where a take-over bid is made all of the holders of the same class of securities shall be offered the same consideration.

The Commission has recognized that under special circumstances it is appropriate to permit offerors to offer dissimilar consideration in special circumstances. For example, in the case of share exchange take-over bids, where the offeror has demonstrated that the target company has few shareholders resident outside Canada, the Commission has permitted the offeror to offer cash consideration to such shareholders in lieu of the offeror qualifying the share consideration in non-Canadian jurisdictions.

The Commission recently made an order exempting an offeror from compliance with section 91(3) and permitting the offeror, in effect, to pay one offeree shareholder less than the consideration paid to the remaining offeree shareholders.

The applicant, Color Tile, Inc. proposed to make a cash offer to all shareholders of Color Your World, Inc. at $26 per share, other than one shareholder whose shares would be acquired at $17 per share. The applicant represented that the shareholder agreeing to accept $17 per share had entered into an agreement (with Color Your World control persons) providing for receipt by him of lower consideration at a time he was aware of Color Tile's interest in making an offer to all shareholders at a much higher price.

The Commission was fully satisfied on the particular facts that the shareholder who had agreed to accept lower consideration was a sophisticated experienced investor who was aware of all relevant circumstances at the time he agreed to accept the lower consideration. The Commission was also satisfied that the minority public shareholders of Color Your World, Inc. would receive the greatest consideration paid to any security holder under the offer proposed to be made by Color Tile, Inc.

Under the circumstances the Commission made an order dated June 27, 1984 exempting Color Tile, Inc. from the requirements of section 91(3) in that it was permitted to pay $17 per share to one security holder and $26 per share to the remaining shareholders.

The Commission publishes this Notice in order to ensure that the making of the order not be interpreted as representing a modification of the requirement of section 91(3) that holders of the same class of securities be offered the same consideration. In particular, the Commission is aware that permitting a security holder to accept less than the consideration offered to other security holders may be perceived as creating an opportunity for significant shareholders of public companies, in effect, to increase the net consideration payable to themselves by obliging other security holders to accept a lesser consideration. The Commission would consider such an arrangement as contrary to the provisions of the section.

2.7 MCLEOD YOUNG WEIR TWO POOLS

HeadnoteKey Words

Subsection 79(b) (iii) and sections 76 and 78 of the Act - pooled money market fund

Facts

The applicant applied to the Commission for an order pursuant to subsection 79(b) (iii) of the Act to exempt the Applicant from the requirements of subsection 76(2) and section 78 of the Act with respect to a prospectus qualifying for distribution receipts evidencing a pro rata interest in two separate pools of debt securities (the "Two Pools") on the grounds that information of interest to investors that would otherwise be contained in unaudited interim financial statements and audited annual financial statements would be contained in monthly receipts to be provided to all investors on a less costly and more timely basis than such financial statements. The Applicant also applied for an order allowing it to aggregate the Two Pools debt securities in the Two Pools annual financial statements required by the Commission for verification purposes. The Commission granted the requested orders subject to certain conditions set out in the ruling.

Staff Comment

The second order was granted in reliance upon a consideration of subsections 74(1) and 74(2) of the Regulations and the understanding that the debt securities to be held by the Two Pools are to consist of Canadian federal and provincial government treasury bills and bonds and short term deposit instruments issued by Canadian chartered banks.

IN THE MATTER OF THE SECURITIES ACT,
R.S.O. 1980, CHAPTER 466

AND

IN THE MATTER OF THE MCLEOD YOUNG WEIR TWO POOLS

ORDER
(Subsection 79(b) (iii))

UPON the application of McLeod Young Weir Limited ("MYW") to the Ontario Securities Commission (the "Commission") for an order pursuant to subsection 79(b) (iii) of the Securities Act, R.S.O. 1980, c. 466 (the "Act") exempting MYW from the requirements of subsection 76(2) and section 78 of the Act, which would otherwise be applicable to MYW upon issuance of a receipt for a prospectus to be filed by MYW in respect of two separate pools of debt securities to be called the McLeod Young Weir Two Pools (the "Two Pools") and permitting MYW, notwithstanding any requirement otherwise applicable to the Two Pools under Part IV of the Regulation made under the Act (the "Regulation"), to aggregate Canadian federal and provincial government treasury bills and bonds and short term deposit instruments issued by Canadian chartered banks (all as described in a prospectus to be filed by MYW with the Commission) in the financial statements of the Two Pools;

AND UPON it being represented to the Commission that:

- a) MYW has established procedures for the operation of the "Two Pools", which consist of two separate pools of debt securities issued by Canadian federal and provincial governments and chartered banks;
- b) MYW will act as Distributor, Pool Investment Manager and Liquidation Agent for the Two Pools, all as described in the Two Pools prospectus;
- c) each of the Two Pools will be a pooled investment fund in the assets of which each contributor (an "Investor") will have an undivided pro rata interest;
- d) on making an investment, an Investor will receive a receipt (a "Receipt") showing the Investor's "Balance of Investment" (i.e., the dollar amount of the investment) and a new Receipt will be issued whenever a withdrawal from, or further contribution to, either of the Two Pools is made, and the new Receipt shall show the cumulative Balance of Investment then outstanding;
- e) promptly after the end of each month, each Investor will receive a new Receipt (a "Monthly Receipt") for each account held by such Investor showing:
 - (a) the new Balance of Investment resulting from investments, withdrawals, fees, charges and credited income during the month; and
 - (b) for the applicable Pool, for that month
 - (i) total portfolio purchases;
 - (ii) total portfolio sales plus maturities;
 - (iii) net annualized yield for the Pool for the most recent week completed prior to the month-end; and
 - (iv) aggregate total asset value (at month-end);
- f) the provision to each Investor of Receipts and Monthly Receipts will accomplish the objectives of subsection 76(2) and the related delivery requirement of section 78 of the Act by supplying the Investors with information as to the status of their investments on a more timely and useful basis than would be provided by the semi-annual financial statements required by subsection 76(2) of the Act; and
- g) the preparation and distribution of semi-annual financial statements and the distribution of annual financial statements would significantly increase the cost of operating the Two Pools and would thereby reduce an Investor's yield while providing information which is of no significant benefit to Investors.

AND UPON reading the application and the recommendation of the staff of the Commisison;

AND UPON being satisfied that to so rule would not be prejudicial to the public interest and being otherwise satisfied in the circumstances of this particular case that there is adequate justification for so doing;

NOW THEREFORE IT IS ORDERED that MYW, acting on behalf of the Investors as Distributor, Pool Investment Manager and Liquidation Agent for the Two Pools,

- 1) is not subject to the requirements of subsection 76(2) and section 78 of the Act by virtue of the filing of a prospectus and summary statement, or any renewal thereof, with the Commission for the purpose of qualifying Receipts and Monthly Receipts for distribution; and
- 2) may, notwithstanding any requirement otherwise applicable to the Two Pools under Part IV of the Regulation, aggregate Canadian federal and provincial government treasury bills and bonds and short term deposit instruments issued by Canadian chartered banks (all as described in the prospectus) in the financial statements of the Two Pools, provided that:

- A) MYW provides Receipts and Monthly Receipts to Investors;
- B) the prospectus and the summary statement, and any renewal thereof, state, on the cover page and page 2 thereof, respectively, that the comparative financial statements required by section 77 of the Act will be prepared and filed with the Commission and will, when filed with the Commission, be provided to any Investor or prospective Investor by MYW without charge on request;
- C) the comparative financial statements referred to in paragraph (B) of this order are delivered to Investors or prospective Investors by MYW without charge upon request;
- D) the information contained in a Monthly Receipt includes the average net annualized yield of each Pool as calculated for a fixed period to be described in the prospectus, which period shall:
 - (i) exceed five business days;
 - (ii) end on the last business day of the most recently completed month to which the Monthly Receipt is related; and
 - (iii) be of the same duration for all Monthly Receipts; and
- E) the net annualized yield of each Pool, as set out in the most recent Monthly Receipt, is provided to prospective Investors, along with the prospectus or summary statement.

2.8 MCLEOD YOUNG WEIR TWO POOLS

HeadnoteKey Words

Section 140 of the Act - subsection 79(b)(iii) and sections 76 and 78 of the Act - pooled money market fund

Facts

On August 17, 1984 the Commission granted an order (the "Initial Order") exempting MYW from the requirements of subsection 76(2) and section 78 of the Act with respect to a prospectus qualifying for distribution receipts evidencing a pro rata interest in two separate pools of debt securities (the "Two Pools") and allowing MYW to aggregate the Two Pools debt securities in the Two Pools annual financial statements. The Initial Order, though the product of an application by MYW as Pool Investment Manager, should have been granted to Two Pools, as a mutual fund, rather than MYW. Accordingly the Initial Order was revoked pursuant to section 140 of the Act and a new order was granted pursuant to subsection 79(b)(iii) of the Act exempting the Two Pools from the requirements of subsection 76(2) and section 78 of the Act and allowing the Two Pools to aggregate its debt securities in the Two Pools annual financial statements.

- 3) an order pursuant to section 140 of the Act revoking an earlier order of the Commission dated August 17, 1984 (the "Prior Order") which was made in reliance upon subsection 79(b)(iii) of the Act and had the effect of exempting MYW from the requirements of subsection 76(2) and section 78 of the Act and allowing MYW to aggregate Canadian federal and provincial government treasury bills and bonds and short term deposit instruments issued by Canadian chartered banks in the annual financial statements of the Two Pools.

AND UPON it being represented to the Commission that:

 - (D) aggregate total asset value (at month-end);
- g) the provision to each Two Pools Investor of Receipts and Monthly Receipts will accomplish the objectives of subsection 76(2) and the related delivery requirement of section 78 of the Act by supplying the Two Pools Investors with information as to the status of their investments on a more timely and useful basis than would otherwise be provided by the semi-annual financial statements required by subsection 76(2) of the Act; and
- h) the preparation and distribution of semi-annual financial statements and the distribution of annual financial statements would significantly increase the cost of operating the Two Pools and would thereby reduce a Two Pools Investor's yield while providing information which is of no significant benefit to such investors;

· AND UPON reading the application and the recommendation of the staff of the Commission;

CHAPTER 1

NOTICES/PRESS RELEASES

1.1 CONFLICTS OF INTEREST OF MEMBERS OF THE OSC

The Commission has adopted the following guidelines as OSC Policy 2.11 entitled "Conflicts of Interest of Members of the Ontario Securities Commission". The guidelines were prepared for the Commission at its request by James M. Tory, Q.C. of Tory, Tory DesLauriers & Binnington.

2.11 CONFLICTS OF INTEREST OF MEMBERS OF THE ONTARIO SECURITIES COMMISSION

A. Interpretation

1. "Chairman" means the Chairman of the Commission.
2. "member" means the Chairman, Vice-Chairman and any other of the members of the Commission described in section 2(2) of the Act.
3. "proceeding" means formal public proceedings of the Commission in which the rights or obligations of a particular individual, firm or company are at issue and any other proceedings of the Commission from the stage at which the Commission is of the opinion that in the course of such proceedings it is likely that the rights or obligations of a particular individual, firm or company will be at issue but does not include proceedings of the Commission in which only matters of general policy, or only matters affecting a class of persons, firms or companies, are at issue.
4. "Vice-Chairman" means the Vice-Chairman of the Commission.

B. General Rule

1. No member should participate in a proceeding:
 - (a) if in respect of such proceeding he has a personal interest which is, or could be perceived to be, incompatible with an unbiased exercise of his judgment;

- (b) if for any other reason he is of the opinion that he would be unable to render an impartial decision; or
- (c) if his continuing or prior associations and relationships (including family and other close personal relationships) would reasonably be perceived as not enabling him to render an impartial decision in respect of such proceeding.

C. Rules relating to Relationship of Member with Party to Proceeding

1. The rules in this Section C amplify the general rule stated in Section B with reference to the participation of a member in a proceeding where such member has a relationship to a party to such proceeding.
2. No member should participate in a proceeding if such member has any financial interest in, or continuing relationship with, a party to such proceeding. A portfolio investment of a value not in excess of $10,000 and not constituting more than 1% of a member's net worth shall not constitute a sufficient financial interest for purposes of this rule. Any type of financial interest, including pensions or other benefits, and any type of relationship, including that of an advisor or consultant, is within the ambit of this rule.
3. No member should participate in a proceeding if such member had been an officer, director, employee or partner of, or had any similar relationship with, a party to such proceeding.
4. No member should participate in a proceeding if an individual who has the same home as such member has a financial interest, continuing relationship or previous relationship described in Section C(2) or (3).
5. No member should participate in a proceeding if such member had a prior special relationship with a party to such proceeding so as to make inappropriate the participation of such member in such proceeding. Special relationships include professional or advisory associations of a longstanding and more intimate nature than generally exist between a professional person or advisor and his client.

D. Rules relating to Relationship of Member with Person Representing Party to Proceeding

1. The rules in this Section D amplify the general rule stated in Section B with reference to the participation of a member in a proceeding where such a member has a relationship with a person representing, or otherwise associated with, a party to such proceeding.
2. No member should participate in a proceeding if such member has any material financial participation in, or continuing material relationship with, any individual, firm or company representing, or otherwise associated with, a party to such proceeding. A financial participation is material only if it includes a profit participation, so that fixed interests, such as pensions, and the provision of office premises, do not, without more, constitute material financial participation. Continuing material relationships do not include occasional continuing consultations of an informal nature with former partners or associates.

3. No member should participate in a proceeding if such member is or was associated with any individual, firm or company representing or otherwise associated with a party to such proceeding unless such association ended at least three months prior to the commencement of such proceeding.
4. No member should participate in a proceeding if the firm or company with which such member was associated immediately prior to his appointment as a member was involved to a substantial degree in the particular matter before the Commission in such proceeding while such member was associated with such firm or company.

E. Procedure

1. Members shall disclose all personal or special interests or relationships which could give rise to a conflict of interest and the Chairman shall disclose all such interests to the Minister in accordance with Policy Statement 2.4.
2. The Chairman shall determine whether or not any other member should participate in a proceeding and the Vice-Chairman shall make such determination in respect of the Chairman.
3. Members shall not request any party to a proceeding to waive any conflict of interest or to consent to the participation of any member in a proceeding if such participation would be contrary to this Policy Statement 2.11.

POLICIES

5.1 SELF-DIRECTED RRSP'S & OTHER PLANS RECOGNIZED BY THE OSC

4.3 SELF-DIRECTED RRSP'S AND OTHER PLANS RECOGNIZED BY THE COMMISSION FOR PURPOSES OF THIS POLICY STATEMENT AND ADMINISTERED BY BROKERS OR INVESTMENT DEALERS ON BEHALF OF AUTHORIZED TRUSTEES

The Ontario Securities Commission will not object to arrangements between brokers or investment dealers and authorized trustees concerning the administration of self-directed registered retirement savings plans and other plans recognized by the Commission for the purpose of Policy Statement 4.3, the terms of which allow brokers or investment dealers to retain possession of any assets of a trust, (the "Plans") provided that:

1. (a) the authorized trustee is a financial institution as defined in the by-laws and regulations of the self-regulatory organizations of which the broker or investment dealer is a member unless the Commission and the self-regulatory organizations rule otherwise; and
(b) primary liability to planholders for any breach of trust remains that of the authorized trustee.
2. physical control over plan securities on hand is maintained by designated employees of the broker or investment dealer;
3. subject to any additional requirements of the authorized trustee:
 - (a) securities held by a broker or investment dealer for the authorized trustee on behalf of its individual planholders are held in safekeeping for the authorized trustee in a location reserved solely for those securities. Such securities may only be released on instruction of the authorized trustee or the planholder;
 - (b) while such securities are held in safekeeping for the authorized trustee within such safekeeping system, they may be held in bulk segregation on behalf of its individual planholders and identified as being so held in the broker's or investment dealer's security position record, customers' ledger and the statement of account provided to the planholder and to the authorized trustee. Securities that are held by a depository approved by the self-regulatory organization of which the broker or investment dealer is a member should be held in a separate plan segregation account (by security). Where a broker or investment dealer is a member of a recognized depository, the use of that depository for lodging of securities held for plan accounts is recommended; and

- (c) the securities required to be segregated be determined at least twice each week;
- 4. the means, be it numerical code or otherwise, by which accounts of planholders for self-directed plans are identified is clearly distinguishable from the manner of identifying other types of accounts and each account is itself identified as being that of the authorized trustee for the planholders as beneficial owner, each being named. All such accounts should be kept in a separate section of the customer account records specifically reserved for such plan accounts;
- 5. all cash received by the dealer for or on behalf of plan accounts is transferred to the authorized trustee by the next business day except that cash required or received in connection with the settlement of securities transactions shall be transferred from the dealer to the authorized trustee or from the authorized trustee to the dealer as the case may be, on the settlement or value date specified in the confirmation of trade;
- 6. the agreement between the broker or investment dealer and the authorized trustee incorporates the protection afforded planholder's by clause 3(a) above and prohibits the broker or investment dealer from using assets from the authorized trustee's plan account for the planholders to pay claims the broker or investment dealer may have against that particular planholder's non-plan accounts other than claims in respect of administration fees or administration expenses relating to the plan account;
- 7. where the terms and conditions of the plan contain investment restrictions required under the Income Tax Act (Canada), the broker or investment dealer shall advise each planholder (i) that there are consequences pursuant to the Income Tax Act (Canada) on the acquisition or holding by the account of non-qualified investments or excess foreign property and (ii) on a monthly basis, if non-qualified investments or excess foreign properties have been acquired for the account or if previously acquired qualified investments have become unqualified;
- 8. all of the regulatory authorities under which the authorized trustee operates have acknowledged that they have received all legal opinions, tax rulings or other documentation the authority has requested from the authorized trustee;
- 9. approval of the self-regulatory organization of which the broker or investment dealer is a member has been obtained prior to the arrangement being implemented and the National Examiner of National Contingency Fund has been notified;
- 10. (a) a report is prepared by the broker or investment dealer on a monthly basis identifying, by security, the quantity required to be segregated but which is not so segregated. The report shall be in a form acceptable to the Commission. Such report shall be filed with the examiners of the self-regulatory organization in duplicate within 10 business days of the last business day of each month. The examiners shall file a copy of this report with the National Examiner of the National Contingency Fund. The frequency of this report will be reviewed periodically by the Commission;

- (b) the foregoing report will not be required by a broker or investment dealer where the self-regulatory organization has reviewed the systems and procedures pertaining to the operation of the plan and is satisfied that such systems and procedures are operating in accordance with the requirements of this policy. Such review shall be conducted as part of every regular examination of the broker or investment dealer carried out by the self-regulatory organization.

REQUESTS FOR COMMENTS

6.1 REQUESTS FOR COMMENTS

6.1.1 SECURITIES INDUSTRY REVIEW

The following is the text of the "Securities Industry Policy Review", Request for Comments in Response to the Report of the Joint Securities Industry Committee.

SECURITIES INDUSTRY POLICY REVIEW

REQUEST FOR COMMENTS IN RESPONSE TO THE REPORT OF THE JOINT SECURITIES INDUSTRY COMMITTEE

I. BACKGROUND

By press release dated May 2, 1984, (OSCB May 4, 1984, p. 1907) the Commission announced its intention to undertake a policy review of the adequacy and relevance of the regulations governing the ownership and registration of securities firms. At the same time, a committee of the Canadian Stock Exchanges and the Investment Dealers Association of Canada (the "Joint Securities Industry Committee" or "JSIC") was constituted to develop specific proposals in response to the concerns articulated in the press release and in a subsequent preliminary issues paper (OSCB June 29, 1984, p. 2766). The Joint Securities Industry Committee has now published its proposals.

As discussed in the preliminary issues paper, the Commission's overriding regulatory mandate is to ensure the efficiency of domestic capital markets.

The effective regulation of an efficient marketplace requires a balancing of interests. The JSIC proposals reflect the viewpoint of one group of domestic market intermediaries and presents a comprehensive regulatory model. The Commission hopes that it will stimulate widespread comment from, and the proposal of alternative regulatory models by, others who participate in and make use of Canada's securities industry and capital markets and whose interests will be affected by the Commission's review.

The Commission must ensure that the regulatory framework it proposes and administers encourages adaptive innovation - of products, processes, applications and marketing technologies, management resources, access to and processing of information, economies of scale and entrepreneurship - in order to ensure that the Canadian securities industry maintains its strong competitive position. In relative terms, the domestic securities industry is highly regulated and faces significant challenges in adjusting to much higher levels of risk, a much faster pace of technological change, and much greater price and non-price competition from both traditional and non-traditional competitors in the emerging global financial markets. These forces are radically changing the nature of the securities business and have accelerated pressures to deregulate or reregulate entry restrictions. At the same time, the Commission must seek to maintain the integrity of the regulatory framework it administers and, where necessary, remedy gaps and conflicts which inhibit market efficiency and limit the Commission's effectiveness in pursuing its mandate. Similarly, the Commission recognizes that an element of an effective overall regulatory framework is uniformity of legislation among jurisdictions regulating the domestic securities industry. As such, the Commission continues to monitor the approaches being taken or recommended in other jurisdictions.

As noted in the report of the Joint Securities Industry Committee (the "JSIC Report"), Government... must provide a regulatory environment in which market participants... can operate freely and effectively, motivated by competition to make the most effective use of their resources... the rules applied should be the least restrictive necessary to attain the desired effects. If government does not regulate it adequately, or over-regulates, public confidence will be eroded, competition will be reduced and financial resources will be withdrawn from financial markets or used inefficiently.

II. JSIC REPORT

Having regard for the foregoing concerns, the JSIC has determined that maintenance of the existing market structure is desirable and that further restrictions on entry, as well as broader regulation of market participants, are required to achieve this objective. Specifically, the JSIC Report recommends the immediate implementation of additional regulations in order to:

- (a) maintain the regulatory boundaries which, until recently, delineated the domestic securities industry by requiring universal registration of anyone performing a market intermediary function;
- (b) preserve the separation of functions between market and financial intermediaries; and
- (c) seek to ensure separation of functions between domestic and international capital markets and securities industries.

The JSIC Report presents a coherent regulatory approach and includes detailed and complex proposed regulations and other rules to implement the JSIC's recommendations. A brief summary of the regulatory objectives and instruments recommended by the JSIC Report follows.

A. Universal Registration and Non-Industry Ownership Restrictions

The JSIC Report focuses on the "problems" created by the conduct of market intermediation activities by unregulated organizations and by financial intermediaries in reliance on the registration exemptions in Ontario's securities law. Aside from concerns as to how such activities might erode the separation of market and financial intermediation functions, the JSIC is of the view that reliance on registration exemptions poses threats to investor protection and gives rise to unequal competition.

To resolve these concerns, the JSIC Report recommends that all those acting as market intermediaries (i.e. performing the function of directly linking users and investors of funds), both in the primary and secondary markets, should be required to register with the Commission and to comply with the full range of applicable regulatory requirements, including ownership restrictions. Further, the JSIC Report recommends that existing rules of the self-regulatory organizations affecting the extent of non-industry investment in market intermediaries should be imposed on all registrants by government regulation. The JSIC Report recommends that industry ownership rules be relaxed to allow a registrant to issue to a non-industry investor, including a non-resident, non-voting securities that carry up to 10% participation in the earnings of the firm, subject to reduction by the percentage of votes held and to a 25% aggregate limit for non-residents.

B. Separation of Functions

The combination of registration requirements and domestic industry ownership rules would, in the view of the JSIC, better enable the Commission to guard against encroachment on market intermediation activities by financial intermediaries (i.e. banks, trust and life insurance companies and others) through affiliated entities or through their ability to influence unregulated organizations. The JSIC Report also recommends that financial intermediaries be restricted to carrying out market intermediation activities necessary for the effective performance of their financial intermediation functions. Such activities would, in the view of the JSIC, include participation in consortium lending arrangements; distribution of their own securities and those of controlled subsidiaries; distribution of registered retirement savings plans and in-house mutual funds; and realization of securities pledged as collateral.

The JSIC Report recommends that securities firms should continue to be precluded from carrying on business as a bank, trust company or insurance company. The JSIC Report recognizes certain constitutional concerns should a province attempt to exclude the banks from activities specifically permitted by the Bank Act.

The JSIC Report recommends networking arrangements as a means of maintaining the separation of functions while allowing for the effective use of distribution facilities and, if thought desirable, the development of "one-stop" financial service availability. Rather than prescribe guidelines as to the types of permissible networking arrangements, the JSIC Report concludes that such arrangements should be subject to the right of the self-regulatory organizations, as well as securities administrators, to receive advance notice of any proposed arrangement and to object if they consider it might give rise to detrimental results.

C. Separation of Markets - Non-Resident Ownership Restrictions

While recommending that all market intermediation activities require registration, the JSIC Report advocates the maintenance of existing non-resident (as well as industry) ownership restrictions as the most effective means to ensure retention of a Canadian-controlled securities industry. The continued ability of non-resident owned firms to rely on the registration exemptions would, in the view of the JSIC, lead to a range of entrants concentrating on institutional transactions in the domestic markets and thereby eroding the "tripartite range of alternatives for Canadians upon which much of the analysis in this (JSIC) report is premised" (i.e. financial and market intermediaries in Canada and access to others outside Canada). The JSIC Report recommends against allowing non-resident entry in order to safeguard against their establishing a dominant position in the comparatively small Canadian market or their failing "to give adequate recognition to the distinctive nature of the Canadian marketplace and economy" in providing advice to their clients.

The result of the JSIC's recommendations would be to deny non-resident firms entry into Canadian capital markets or access to Canadian issuers and investors except:

- (a) to accept an unsolicited order outside Ontario from an Ontario resident;
- (b) to sell to designated institutions securities that are in the course of a distribution primarily made outside Canada;
- (c) to sell "foreign" securities (i.e. issued by an issuer organized outside Canada or, in respect of issuers organized in Canada, securities originally distributed outside Canada so long as no active trading market exists with respect to such securities in Canada) to designated institutions in Ontario;
- (d) to trade in interlisted securities for designated institutions, if the non-resident firm is a member of a foreign stock exchange and if it files appropriate undertakings to comply with Canadian law; and
- (e) to assist Canadian issuers distribute their securities outside of Canada.

III. PRELIMINARY CONCERNS OF COMMISSION COUNSEL

Financial services, precisely because they are not strongly dependent on comparative advantages in the usual sense (e.g. natural resources or climate endowments) are highly sensitive to the regulatory environment. The Commission recognizes that slight changes in the regulatory framework may have substantial impact on the nature or viability of certain activities in the domestic capital markets. The JSIC Report advocates a comprehensive regulatory approach. Neither the Commission nor its staff have had an opportunity to carefully analyze and consider the report and recommendations of the JSIC. However, having regard for the interactive process between regulation and financial innovation, and in the interests of stimulating widespread response to the JSIC Report, Commission counsel raise the following preliminary issues for consideration.

A. Universal Registration to Maintain Boundaries

While the Commission has recognized the utility of regulations designed to maintain barriers between market and financial intermediation, the JSIC Report advocates broad measures designed to severely circumscribe entry of non-financial firms into market intermediation activities. To the extent that the regulatory objective of restricting entry is to ensure investor protection, presumably this could be achieved by blanket registration requirements, with applicable Regulations tailored to the nature and proposed activities of potential entrants.

It should be noted that all market intermediaries, including those who rely upon exemptions, are subject to the regulatory jurisdiction of the Commission by virtue of the Commission's power to order that any or all of the exemptions do not apply to a person where, in its opinion, such action would be in the public interest. The issue then is how, rather than whether, to regulate.

The basis for the JSIC Report's contention that institutional investors require further protection (and, as a result, should bear additional transaction costs) is not clear. The Commission would welcome comment from those who purchase securities sold pursuant to the exemptions as to the demand for such additional regulation. To the extent such demand may exist, or the need for additional investor protection otherwise demonstrated, the Commission would appreciate analysis of the appropriate regulatory instruments. Such comments might extend to the suitability of regulations governing existing registrants. For example, the JSIC Report cites solvency regulation (i.e. regulatory capital requirements and membership in the National Contingency Fund) as one of the protections unavailable to those dealing with unregistered firms in reliance on exemptions. The Commission would welcome comment on the efficacy of the National Contingency Fund and other elements of the present regulatory requirements in the face of a rapidly evolving financial services sector.

If the primary concern of the JSIC is to preclude indirect entry of financial intermediaries into market intermediation activities, through affiliations or otherwise, presumably more specific regulatory instruments could be devised. The same principle applies to the other policy objectives noted in the JSIC Report, including competitive "inequalities".

Given the pace of change, questions as to whether there is a "level playing field" or whether competition is "fair" are difficult to determine. Moreover, efforts to establish "fairness" by legislation or regulation could easily result in ossification and inefficiency. Consumers of financial services have little or no vested interest in the division of functions in the financial services sector per se. Rather, they are concerned primarily, perhaps exclusively, with receiving the best service possible and, for any given quality of service, the lowest price.

The JSIC Report does not attempt to quantify the costs of the regulatory requirements imposed on registrants, nor does it point to specific instances where such requirements have put registrants at a material competitive disadvantage to unregulated intermediaries. Others have suggested that the major competitive disadvantage suffered by the Canadian securities industry is the existence of ownership restrictions. Insofar as the JSIC Report recommends the broader application of such restrictions, and other regulations, it would appear to entail substantial additional costs.

It is not clear that the ownership restrictions presently imposed by self-regulatory organizations and which the JSIC would have the Commission adopt by regulation are the "least restrictive necessary to attain the desired effects". For example, the New York Stock Exchange only requires approval of any person owning greater than 25% of a registrant. The ability to separate ownership from effective management of a firm does not appear to be reflected in the JSIC recommendations. The Commission would welcome comment on whether measures designed to control the suitability of employees and directors might suffice.

B. Separation of Functions

As noted in the JSIC Report, the Commission has recently articulated its views concerning the desirability of protecting certain functions of market and financial intermediaries. Notwithstanding the constitutional concerns noted in the JSIC Report, the Commission has been able to implement policies and regulatory requirements in furtherance thereof.

In addition to avoiding potential conflicts of interest problems, guarding against undue concentration has traditionally been posed as a major regulatory objective of restricting entry, directly or indirectly, of financial intermediaries to market intermediation activities. The uncertainty that currently attends the market delineation process challenges the ability to utilize traditional concepts of competition regulation to measure or prevent excess concentration, either in specific markets or in the aggregate. Because of the fungibility of funds and flexibility of financial markets, it has and will continue to be relatively easy for regulated institutions to create innovative new instruments and develop other means to avoid regulations when they restrict profit opportunities. Alternatively, binding regulations create incentives for less regulated institutions to evolve effective substitutes for the more heavily regulated services.

The JSIC Report's endorsement of networking arrangements is consistent with the position previously taken by the Commission. However, the recommendation that such arrangements be reviewed on a case-by-case basis poses fundamental procedural problems. Moreover, the recommendation that responsibility for such reviews be undertaken by the self-regulatory organizations, as well as the Commission, raises basic concerns as to the appropriate role of self-regulation in the securities industry.

C. Separation of Markets

Given the relative size of Canada's economy and our proximity to the United States, concerns about undue foreign domination are a continuing element in any economic policy discussion. Indeed, the integrative (as opposed to insulating) forces generally at work in the financial markets facilitate a smoother and readier international transmission of economic and financial disturbances. Closer integration of financial markets permits changes in economic and financial conditions to spread their effects from country to country more quickly. Such influences pose difficult policy questions for a country such as Canada, whose economy is particularly sensitive to such international pressures. It may be that the ability to regulate against "undue foreign domination" can only effectively be applied to the ability of our governments to regulate during a period of crisis. In such circumstances (e.g. the inability of government to conduct its own finances), it is generally agreed that prior regulatory reforms are easily reversible.

Concerns about undue foreign domination are generally unrelated to the reasons why outside participants would like to enter the Canadian market and to the effect of their entry. It should also be noted that such entry often fosters international trade and serves to strengthen, rather than weaken, the domestic economy. Certainly it appears that the ability of non-resident firms to rely upon registration exemptions has, to date, contributed additional liquidity, service competition and product innovation to Canadian issuers and institutional investors.

The JSIC Report notes that the primary objective of non-resident entry restrictions must be to preclude non-residents from acquiring control of Canadian securities firms not now controlled by them. Would other regulatory models, such as the Bank Act model of restricted entry, merit consideration? Would activity restrictions suffice to satisfy the regulatory objectives noted in the JSIC Report? Alternatively, would a case-by-case approach (such as is administered by the Foreign Investment Review Agency) be appropriate?

The JSIC Report expresses concern that reliance on the registration exemptions tends to apply to trades involving institutions and "accentuates the negative impact on retail investors" (through increasing institutionalization). Presumably, such institutionalization is primarily a factor of other, unrelated, economic policies. It is not clear that the provision of additional services to institutional investors detracts from the services available to retail investors or, for that matter, that the two classes of investors make use of similar services or interact in the same markets. Nor is it clear how denial of the private placement exemption to retail investors dealing with non-resident firms, recommended in the JSIC Report, advances the interests of such investors.

IV. RELATED ISSUES

In addition to its primary recommendations, the JSIC Report addresses a number of other concerns raised by the Commission in its press release and preliminary issues paper. The JSIC Report itself raises certain additional concerns in response to which the Commission would welcome comment.

A. Domestic Securities Industry Capital

The JSIC considered the capital position of the Canadian securities industry, the adequacy of existing sources of capital to meet ongoing needs and the ability of firms to deal with equity turnover in view of the existing ownership restrictions. In each instance, the JSIC Report concludes that the existing regulatory framework, subject to the revisions proposed by the JSIC will enable the industry to be well financed and well able to meet its ongoing responsibilities. The data collected by the JSIC albeit limited, supports this position.

The Commission remains concerned, however, with the ability and incentive of the domestic industry to utilize capital creatively. To what extent does insulation from competitive pressures reduce the incentive to be innovative and take risks that, in the long run, would strengthen the position of the industry, both domestically and abroad? In addition, the data presented in the JSIC Report appears to relate primarily to category "A" firms (i.e. the largest firms in the industry). To the extent that access to capital may be a problem, the Commission is concerned that it would more likely arise with respect to medium-sized or smaller securities firms.

B. Advisers

By imposing non-resident ownership restrictions through denial of registration, the existing regulations have restricted the entry of non-resident investment advisers, as well as non-resident brokers and dealers. The policy rationale for such restrictions (and the scope of the registration requirement) was never clearly articulated and increasing demand for non-resident investment advice has led to the commitment of considerable Commission resources in considering applications for discretionary relief. The Commission would welcome comment on whether such restrictions are necessary or desirable. Should the regulatory model proposed by the JSIC be extended to apply to advisers?

C. Participation of Canadian Securities Firms in International Securities Markets

The JSIC Report recommends that the only significant constraint that should be imposed on the activities of a Canadian securities firm operating outside Canada in any endeavor permitted by the local laws is to prohibit financial commitments such as guarantees of the obligations of foreign affiliates. The Commission would appreciate further elaboration as to the efficacy of such a model. For example, should ownership restrictions or regulatory capital requirements be imposed on the holding company? Should the commitment of capital from the registrant to the holding company be monitored by the Commission or self-regulatory organizations?

D. Mutual Funds

As with investment advisers, the effect of the non-resident ownership restrictions extends to foreign mutual funds. The Investment Funds Institute of Canada has indicated to the Commission that it would not object to the entry of foreign mutual funds so long as the regulatory requirements complied with by investment funds distributed in Ontario and managed by Canadians are complied with by all non-resident investment funds so permitted to distribute their shares or units in Ontario. The Institute also recommends that the Commission should monitor on an ongoing basis the actual cumulative impact of any permitted entry of foreign investment funds into the Ontario market so that it will be in a position to diminish the number of exemptions granted, discontinue the granting of exemptions or withdraw previously granted exemptions if it should become evident that the achievement of the non-resident ownership policy is actually being negatively affected. The Commission would be interested in comments as to whether the relaxation of entry restrictions in this manner, both with respect to investment funds and, perhaps, more generally, would be desirable.

V. REQUEST FOR COMMENTS AND PROPOSALS

Copies of the JSIC Report are available on request from the stock exchanges or the Investment Dealers Association of Canada. The Commission intends to convene public hearings commencing on November 5, 1984 to consider the issues raised in this Notice and in the Commission's preliminary issues paper, including uniformity of regulation, and the responses made by interested persons, including the JSIC. To facilitate informed participation at that hearing, submissions must be received by the Commission on or prior to October 26, 1984. All submissions will be available for inspection at the Commission and, immediately following October 26, bound copies of all submissions may be purchased at a price which will reflect the Commission's printing costs by contacting the Secretary of the Commission. Those desiring to participate in the public hearings must so indicate by October 26, 1984. Further details concerning the structure of the public hearings will be published in the O.S.C. Bulletin in due course.

Commission counsel do not anticipate advocating a particular view at the public hearing or in their written submissions. Instead, they intend to present the Commission with an analysis of alternative regulatory models, of which the JSIC proposals will be one. It is their desire to ensure that the Commission is provided with the views of a broad range of market participants and users. To this end, Commission counsel would be pleased to meet with interested parties to review any concerns and assist them in the preparation of their submissions to the Commission. Interested parties are encouraged to contact Edward Waitzer (869-5587) or John Stransman (869-5626), Stikeman, Elliott, Suite 1400, P.O. Box 85, Commerce Court West, Toronto, Ontario, M5L 1B9 or Harry Malcolmson (963-0221), Ontario Securities Commission, Suite 1800, P.O. Box 55, 20 Queen Street West, Toronto, Ontario, M5H 3S8.

The Commission will provide copies of all submissions received by it to each of the other Canadian securities administrators and is in the process of conferring with them as to their interest in participating in this policy review.

1.4 PRESS RELEASE

1.4.1 STRIP BONDS

September 27, 1984.

The Ontario Securities Commission today announced that effective October 15, 1984 the sale of Strip Bonds in Ontario must be accompanied by a document informing investors as to certain investment characteristics of Strip Bonds. These characteristics include price volatility, income tax consequences, the extent of the secondary market and custodial arrangements.

The obligation to deliver the information document will be applicable to all sales to first-time purchasers in either the primary or secondary markets of Strip Bonds whether made in specie, or in the form of a certificate representing an interest in a specific Strip Bond or a pool of Strip Bonds.

The Commission will require all vendors to advise prospective purchasers of Strip Bonds of the investment characteristics of the instruments. Delivery of the information document by vendors who are TSE or IDA members may be made with the trade confirmation. Other vendors must deliver the information document to the prospective purchaser prior to the time of purchase.

On June 25, 1984 the Commission published a Notice calling attention to the rapid development of the sale of Strip Bonds in Ontario and reflecting its concern that by reason of the novelty of Strip Bonds as an investing instrument there was a strong possibility the public might not be familiar with investment attributes of Strip Bonds. The attributes are different from those of Conventional Government Bonds with coupons attached. Of particular concern were the provisions of the Income Tax Act which require holders to declare deemed interest as income, the potential for significant changes in resale value resulting from increases or decreases in prevailing interest rates and the absence of an active secondary market.

The Commission Policy on Strip Bonds with a section 73 ruling of the Commission is enclosed with this Press Release.

The section 73 ruling is located in Chapter 2 ((2-603)/page -4085-).

5.2 OSC POLICY 1.6/STRIP BONDS

OSC POLICY 1.6

STRIP BONDSI. Introduction

The Commission has monitored the growth in sales in Ontario of investment instruments commonly known as "Strip Bonds" that arise from the physical separation of individual interest coupons from underlying bond residues. In Ontario, the market for such instruments has to date been restricted to coupons and residues derived from federal and provincial government bonds and has for the most part involved institutional and tax exempt purchasers. In view of the accelerating pace of sales volumes, the developing secondary markets, and the unusual investment attributes of such instruments, the Commission has determined that some level of regulation of this market is required.

II. Interpretation

For the purposes of this policy, the term "Strip Bonds" refers to:

- (i) actual individual interest coupons and bond residues arising from the physical separation of bonds issued or guaranteed by the Government of Canada or any province of Canada or any foreign country or political subdivision thereof; and
- (ii) deposit receipts or other certificates representing an interest in certain specific instruments of the type referred to in (i) above, ("alter ego receipts"), or an undivided interest in a pool of such instruments ("non-alter ego receipts").

III. Information Statement

The Commission is of the view that there are certain specific attributes of Strip Bonds which are unusual and may not be understood generally by the investing public. Of particular concern to the Commission are the generic attributes of Strip Bonds relating to:

- (i) the fluctuation in the value of Strip Bonds resulting from fluctuations in prevailing interest rates;
- (ii) the income tax consequences of investing and trading in Strip Bonds;
- (iii) the anticipated secondary market environment; and
- (iv) the custodial arrangements relating to Strip Bonds.

The Commission has determined that all purchasers must be informed of the foregoing investment attributes of Strip Bonds and anticipates that vendors and their agents will institute appropriate procedures to ensure that their sales agents are knowledgeable as to the investment attributes of Strip Bonds. To this end, all first-time purchasers must be provided with an information statement which sets out, in form satisfactory to the Director of the Commission, the investment attributes of Strip Bonds, including, without limitation, the investment attributes referred to above.

IV. Vendors

The Commission considers that while Strip Bonds have certain unique attributes which the investing public may require some time to become familiar with, Strip Bonds are closely analogous to Government issued or guaranteed exempt securities which are traditionally sold by non-registrants as well as registrants. Accordingly, the Commission has determined that persons other than those registered as dealers in the categories of investment dealer and broker may distribute and trade Strip Bonds provided that an approved information document is given to first-time purchasers who acknowledge receipt of the same prior to the distribution or trade. Registered investment dealers and brokers may distribute and trade Strip Bonds provided that an approved information document is forwarded to first-time purchasers not later than with the confirmation of the trade. The Commission expects that in the course of discharging their obligations under the suitability rule, such registrants will take measures to inform purchasers of the contents of the information statement.

V. Section 73 Ruling

The Commission has issued a ruling under Section 73 of the Securities Act (the "Act") (attached as Appendix A) exempting from the registration and prospectus requirements of the Act trades and distributions of Strip Bonds made in compliance with this Policy, and will deny the registration exemption contained in paragraph 34(2)1(a) and the prospectus exemption contained in clause 72(1)(a) in connection with any trade of Strip Bonds made after October 14, 1984 and not in compliance with this Policy.

RULING
(Section 73)

UPON the applications of certain interested parties to the Ontario Securities Commission (the "Commission") pursuant to section 73(1) of the Securities Act, R.S.O. 1980, c.466 (the "Act");

AND UPON it appearing to the Commission that there are being sold in Ontario certain bonds, debentures and other evidences of indebtedness referred to in section 34(2)(1)(a) of the Act where the purchaser's sole entitlement is to receive a fixed amount of money at a specific future date, and certificates or receipts representing the same (collectively "Strip Bonds"), such Strip Bonds generally being derived from the physical separation of individual interest coupons from the underlying bond residue;

AND UPON the Commission having determined that it is in the public interest that the sale of Strip Bonds in Ontario should be effected only where accompanied by adequate disclosure of the investment attributes of such securities;

AND UPON being satisfied that the following ruling would not be prejudicial to the public interest;

NOW THEREFORE IT IS ORDERED THAT a trade of Strip Bonds is not subject to section 24 of the Act and a distribution of Strip Bonds is not subject to section 52 of the Act, provided that an information document satisfactory to the Director of the Commission describing the investment attributes of Strip Bonds, including, without limitation, the fluctuations in value of Strip Bonds resulting from fluctuations in prevailing interest rates, the income tax consequences of investing and trading in Strip Bonds, the anticipated secondary market environment, and the custodial arrangements relating to such Strip Bonds, is furnished to, and its receipt is acknowledged by, a first-time purchaser prior to the trade where the vendor is not registered in the categories of investment dealer or broker under the Act, and concurrently with the delivery of confirmation of the trade to first-time purchasers where the vendor is registered in the categories of investment dealer or broker under the Act.

September 25th, 1984.
